Medication Guide

Pergoveris®

Pergoveris®

- It is a combination hormone consisting of recombinant FSH (follitropin alfa) and recombinant LH (lutropin alfa) in a 2:1 ratio, providing patients with both FSH and LH.
- It is supplied as a prefilled pen with FSH strengths of 300, 450, and 900 IU. The dose can be adjusted by rotating the dial. If the dose is over- or under-adjusted, it can be rotated back and forth to set the desired dose. However, do not press the injection button at the needle end while adjusting the dose.
- Hormonal injections generally produce better results than oral medications because the hormone is injected directly to stimulate the egg-production process.
- Possible side effects include mood swings, headache, nausea, and vomiting.
